ENHANCING LIVES

Camaraderie and Understanding Breeds Growth and Development

For too long now, our country has been divided. We have allowed the illusion of a “right” and a “left” to undermine our growth and development as a nation, all while lies and deception have trumped knowledge and understanding. We all have a right and we all have a left. Remember, when you lean too far to one side, what happens? You fall down! We, as a nation, must regain our center and drive forward into a new century and a new era in human history.

I am so proud in this moment in time to call myself “American.” I believe that Barack Obama will be the catalyst for new, inventive, open-minded thinking. This will allow us to regain the strength that we built at the turn of the 20th Century with the advent of the Industrial Revolution. This country is going to need another revolution of sorts. We must come together, recognize our similarities, embrace our differences, and move toward progress.

Human ingenuity is so powerful that when we work together for a common cause, there is no limit to what can be accomplished. My hope is that Barack Obama will foster that ingenuity in our spirits, inspire hope, and help drive our country into 21st Century thinking. Great people reinvent themselves throughout their lives, building on the knowledge they have gained through the experiences they have had. Our country has also learned a lot and experienced a great deal in its short two hundred and thirty-two year life span. America too, must reinvent itself to deal with the situations and struggles of an ever changing world. Two hundred and thirty-two years may seem like a long time, but South Korea, (birthplace of Tae Kwon Do) a thriving democracy, was founded in 2333 BC!

The revolution of the 21st Century has everything to do with ENERGY. We take for granted the amount of energy that Americans use each day. We only fully appreciate energy as a resource when forced to go without it for a day, a couple of days, or even a week. Power outages remind us just how important it is to our quality of life. The problem with energy lies within our means of generating it. When we learned several decades ago that smoking is a huge contributing factor to cancer, this changed many people’s behavior. When we learned that fast food restaurants are extraordinarily unhealthy for us, many people changed their routines. So, now that we know the damage that we have caused the environment over the last one hundred years, we must take this knowledge and use it as an opportunity to grow as a race of humans. The old ways were to burn, pollute, and waste. The 21st Century will transform these words into reuse, recycle, and reduce consumption! With this country at the forefront of new energy technologies, I believe that we will move forward as a nation in balance with the world, while maintaining a prosperous economy in a thriving environment.
